

THIS IS RUGBY.

Merchandise Manager

Having a sense of identity is essential to building pride in the club. One of the most visible ways people do this is through merchandise. As Merchandise Manager, your role is to give people the chance to show their allegiance in a range of ways through the club colours.

Ideally, you'll need to be:

- Financially astute
- Well-organised
- Up to date with the latest merchandising trends, technology and opportunities
- Able to manage sales staff – often volunteers

What you'll do:

- Devise and oversee merchandise range
- Purchase stock and manage inventories
- Manage both the physical shop and online sales
- Devise and implement merchandising budget
- Track sales and oversee reinvestment in stock
- Oversee quality control
- Develop long-term relationships with trusted suppliers
- Create sales and marketing messages

How much time it will take up:

We estimate you will need 3 to 4 hours per week

What you'll get out of it:

By giving the club more visibility through well chosen, top quality merchandise, you'll get the satisfaction of helping your club in two ways. It makes those who already belong to the club feel good about it, and it attracts others to come and join, play, volunteer or watch. It also looks good on your CV.

Teamwork Respect Enjoyment Discipline Sportsmanship

Rugby Football Development Limited

a member of the Rugby Football Union group of companies

Rugby House, Rugby Road, Twickenham TW1 1DS Tel: 020 8892 2000 Fax: 020 8892 9816

Incorporated in England, company number 5429073

Delivering the programmes of the Rugby Football Foundation and the Rugby Football Union

December 2009